

AADHA AKASH <the.great.conjunction.2020.12.21@gmail.com>

ESCHATOLOGY: Trump was a prophet of American evangelical Christians. When ...

1 message

Jagbir Singh <s.jagbir@gmail.com>

Sun, Apr 4, 2021 at 10:56 AM

To: AADHA AKASH <the.great.conjunction.2020.12.21@gmail.com>

Trump was a prophet of American evangelical Christians. When ears listen to Jesus 'speaking' again, Trump becomes a false Messiah. (March 4, 2021)

April 4, 2021

I was thinking if I should write anything on Easter, and what it would be about.

So before starting (as I was not able to think of anything worthy) I clicked the New York Times. This is the first article I opened even though there were articles on Easter:

"How Trump Steered Supporters Into Unwitting Donations

Online donors were guided into weekly recurring contributions. Demands for refunds spiked. Complaints to banks and credit card companies soared. But the money helped keep Donald Trump's struggling campaign afloat.

April 3, 2021

Stacy Blatt was in hospice care last September listening to Rush Limbaugh's dire warnings about how badly Donald J. Trump's campaign needed money when he went online and chipped in everything he could: $500.

It was a big sum for a 63-year-old battling cancer and living in Kansas City on less than $1,000 per month. But that single contribution — federal records show it was his first ever — quickly multiplied. Another $500 was withdrawn the next day, then $500 the next week and every week through mid-October, without his knowledge — until Mr. Blatt's bank account had been depleted and frozen. When his utility and rent payments bounced, he called his brother, Russell, for help.

What the Blattss soon discovered was $3,000 in withdrawals by the Trump campaign in less than 30 days. They called their bank and said they thought they were victims of fraud.

"It felt," Russell said, "like it was a scam."

But what the Blattss believed was duplicity was actually an intentional scheme to boost revenues by the Trump campaign and the for-profit company that processed its online donations, WinRed. Facing a cash crunch and getting badly outspent by the Democrats, the campaign had begun last September to set up recurring donations by default for online donors, for every week until the election." New York Times

America is at a most critical crossroads in its long, tortured, and violent past. We can understand that by just being a bison for a few minutes as we read the article, before progressing to the eradication of the Native American Indians, before progressing that to indigenous people of the world, before progressing to animals, before progressing to Nature, before progressing to ..., and, and, and, and! (We are supposed to join the Divine Battle with the weapons held in the Ten Hands of the Devi.)

Trump was the promised prophet of tens of millions of red-neck, gun-totting, Bible-thumping Christians. When a prophet leads he makes them blind. He uses religion to fleece them of both reason and cash. Not even the carnage of the hundreds of thousands of dead and dying of Covid-19 does not bring sanity to the prophet's followers.

(Only then will you be able to understand the ruthless mentality of the 1% to plunder and rape Mother Earth.)

America is the place where 2050 is taking its tender roots today, the Easter morning of 2021. Kamala Harris lives there and is the Vice-President. Women are freeing themselves from invisible shackles and educating their collective Female Brain. HALF THE SKY is rising. Irreversible changes are taking shape in the Cosmic Horizon.

There is no personality comparable to that of Jesus Christ. Against other religious favorites, this is a tough call to make. To substantiate it, I would want Jesus to be imagined as a Harvard University Quantum Physics scientist validating the eternity of the soul to explore the Mind of THE MOTHER.

(For us, it should be the vision of 2050 that humanity must begin to experience on a collective level in the Age that has Come.)

Today it is Easter. Christians are looking for Easter Bunny eggs.

It is also spring. The tender roots of the Resurrection are gently taking root. The Unconditional Love of the Saviour flows from the Heart of THE MOTHER and has begun to nourish all. Thousands of Judas Yogis feel the Cool Breeze of the Age that has Come. The most precious are drinking from the Spring of Eternal Life from within themselves.

This indeed is the best Easter ever for those who have ears that hear. Hope today for us should be as joyous and comforting as the first fruits of the Savior's promised Spring of Easter twenty centuries ago. Amen.

jagbir